First full year for Brandt as SIUC head

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale will begin a fresh academic year Aug. 25 with some new administrators, some new features on the 800-acre campus landscape, and renewed expectations of a stable enrollment.

For Warren W. Brandt, who came to SIUC last December, the date will mark the outset of his first full academic year as president. He has almost completed a realignment project designed to tighten administration and strengthen the functional identities of the school's academic, service, business and research units.

New to SIUC students returning from last spring will be the skeletal outlines of an $8,900,000 student recreation complex, the concrete underpinnings of an $800,000 campus parking garage and the fleshed-out dimensions of a renovated, enlarged McAndrew Stadium.

The 351-space parking garage is scheduled to be finished in December and the 19,000-seat football stadium—remodeled at a cost of $2.1 million—will be the scene of SIUC's Sept. 20 home opening game.

The recreation complex, for which students have paid themselves, won't be finished until late next year. In addition, a section of SIUC's old Parkinson Laboratory is being remodeled to house a new coal research center.

Frank E. Horton, 35, dean of advanced studies at the University of Iowa, begins a new job as SIUC's vice-president for academic affairs and research on Sept. 1. He was selected for the position following a nationwide search by an all-campus committee at SIUC.

Also new to the administration is Harvey Welch Jr., retired Air Force lieutenant colonel who in the early 1950s was the first black athlete ever recruited by SIUC. He is the dean of student life.

Welch was a three-letter, all-conference star for then-coach Lynn Holder and won both bachelor's and master's degrees from SIUC.

Another top administrative appointment finds George R. Mace, acting vice-president for administration and campus treasurer, serving also as vice-president for university relations. He will relinquish the former position to a soon-to-be named vice-president for fiscal affairs.

SIUC's international student population may go above 500 this fall for the first time in several years. Applications from foreign students sponsored by their home governments have risen 30 per cent above last year, according to Ronald Thomas, director of foreign admissions.

Notable is the number from countries where the university has had little previous contact. The largest new contingent—12—comes from Malaysia, followed by seven from Venezuela and three each from Germany and Japan. Thomas credits most of the expected increase, however, to a rising need for specialized training not available in younger and underdeveloped nations.

The most popular fields of specialization among SIUC foreign students are agriculture, business administration and engineering. The bulk of SIUC's foreign student enrollment, as in past years, is expected to come from Hong Kong, Iran, Saudi Arabia, Taiwan, India and South Vietnam.

Rooms and apartments on the SIUC campus have been filled for nearly a month. Samuel E. Rinella, director of housing, says contracts have been signed for all 4,724 beds in the university's on-campus dormitories and that all on-campus married student apartments have been spoken for.

He attributed the early contract signings in part to economics and the energy situation. "Students may be looking for housing that is convenient to the campus in order to avoid driving," he said. Housing in Carbondale and the surrounding area is still available, he said, and students may consult the university's Off-Campus Housing Office for listings.

2 grants to dental school

Two grants totaling $38,980 have been received by the School of Dental Medicine of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville from the U.S. Department of Education and Welfare (HEW), according to Dr. Stanley Hazen, dean of the school.

The HEW's Start-Up Assistance Grant Program awarded $180,000 for continuing renovation of buildings on the Alton campus "to provide a better educational environment for students and faculty," Dean Hazen said.

This is the final phase of the grant program, which has extended over a three-year period.

The sum of $178,980 was awarded by HEW's Health Professions Capitation Grant Program to support various educational programs at the School of Dental Medicine.

The award is based on enrollment and the impact of the school in providing more dentists to the nation, according to the regional health manpower office of the Bureau of Health Resources Development.

The dental school received a similar grant of $100,216 last year, when enrollment totaled 106. A new class of 40 students was admitted this July.

Springfield; Nancy Follet, supervisor, Oak Park; divisional secretary, and Dennis Wiggins, supervisor of Aurora and divisional treasurer.

President Scheib reports that he and other officers have been pleased with the turnout at the other eight meetings, and he expects a good turnout here, adding, "The meeting should prove to be worthwhile and informative."

5 colleges to offer TV-related courses

A consortium of five colleges and universities in the St. Louis and neighboring Illinois areas will begin an Open University Studies program this fall featuring radio and television programming as additional aids to home study.

Greenville College, Lindenwood Colleges, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, University of Missouri at St. Louis and Webster College are jointly offering a program enabling students to earn regular college credit through home study.

Each week, beginning Sept. 20, KETC-TV Channel 9 will televise materials on Saturdays from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and Tuesdays from 6 to 7 p.m.

KWMT-FM will broadcast radio programs on Sundays from 8 to 9 p.m. and Wednesdays from 6 to 7 p.m.

The learning centers at each participating campus will have audiovisual facilities enabling students to hear tapes or see films. Students will have the opportunity to discuss television and radio programs with faculty members and engage in dialogues about texts and workbooks.

Course" included study of history, literature, art and music. It is designed for all students interested in man, his history and his cultural achievements.

"Making Things Work: Man, Technology and Environment" is a course about the nature of technology, "dealing with the what, why, should and must of the bow of this important aspect of modern life," Taylor said.

Both courses are intended for the beginning student and are designed to teach students to think clearly and logically, and to handle theories and evidence with sophistication," Taylor said.

Enrollment is open to high school graduates "and others with the desire and maturity to work toward a college degree away from a college campus," he said.

Interested students may enroll at any of the participating colleges and universities.

Arrangements for SIUE's participation in the program are being handled by Paul Burns, director of the SIUE Office of Off-Campus Programs.

He said there will be a common core of television and radio programs and texts and workbooks, but each institution will provide its own style of working with students.

Tuition and fees will vary according to the regular fee schedules established at each institution.

According to John Taylor, coordinator of the Open University project at SIUE, two courses will be offered. Each course will last for the entire academic year and carry either 16 semester hours or 24 quarter-hours of regular academic credit. At some institutions, students may enroll for non-credit participation.

Winter resort in state—for geese

Editor's Note: This is one of a series on Illinois' state parks and memorials.

JONESBORO — Some 30 years ago, long before the current wave of interest in ecology and conservation, naturalists became concerned over dwindling numbers of geese.

Thanks to prompt action to establish refuges, provide adequate food and supplies and, temporarily, to limit harvesting of the big birds, the population has staged an amazing comeback. Today, 300,000 Canada geese winter in southern Illinois, many of them at the Union County Conservation Area located off Ill. Rt. 3 just below Jonesboro.

Encompassing 6,202 acres in the lower Mississippi River bottomlands, the area has approximately 650 acres in water, ranging from Grassy Lake with 350 acres and Lyster Lake with 275, to numerous shallow sloughs and draws.

Roughly 2,500 acres of the site are under cultivation, with corn, milo, sunflowers, wheat, clover and other crops of hard grains and green forage planted annually and left standing to provide food for the wintering geese.

In addition, the area attracts ducks, white-tailed deer, bald and golden eagles and other wildlife.

To avoid disturbing the waterfowl, no day use or overnight facilities have been developed at the refuge site, and public use in the refuge area is limited to sight-seeing and wildlife photography. During the five months that the huge geese flocks of some 85,000 birds winter there, they provide a rare opportunity to watch and photograph the handsome birds in their natural habitat.

There are two waterfowl management areas in the Union County facility, and limited hunting is allowed there for ducks, geese, squirrels and deer.

At the south end of the Union County Conservation Area, more than 2,000 acres have been designated a public hunting area, where 50 blinds provide cover for 100 hunters daily during the goose hunting season.

Hunting is by permit, for a daily fee of $5. Permits are issued from the Springfield office of the state Conservation Department, and blinds, decoys and transportation to the site are furnished at the site. Drawings are held each morning to allocate blinds for the day.

In addition to the public hunting areas, there are 19 private goose hunting clubs in the surrounding area, which among them provide over 16,000 man-days of goose hunting each year.

Fishermen are also attracted to the conservation facility, with fishing permitted between March 15 and Oct. 15. Outboard motors are allowed, but limited to 10 horsepower or less. In Grassy Lake, the shallow fertile bottom offers primarily catfish, while in Lyster Lake bluegill and crappie fishing is excellent in early spring and late summer.

As in all state Conservation Department properties, all groups of 25 or more must register in advance, and groups with minors must have at least one responsible adult for each 15 young people. Pets are permitted but must be kept leashed.

School lunch guidelines set

St. Mary's parochial school has announced its policy for free meals, free milk, and reduced price meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals and milk served under the National School Lunch, and Special Milk Program.

St. Mary's School has adopted the following family size and income criteria for determining eligibility:

For a family of one, the limit of income for free meals and free milk is $3,250, while the limit on family income for reduced price meals is $4,530; family of two, $4,240 and $5,530; three, $5,250 and $7,350; four, $6,260 and $8,770; five, $7,190 and $10,050.

Six, $8,110 and $11,360; seven, $8,950 and $12,530; eight, $9,790 and $13,700; nine, $10,550 and $14,770; ten, $11,310 and $15,840; eleven, $12,060 and $16,800; and twelve, $12,810 and $17,940. For each additional family member the income limit for free meals and free milk increases $750, and for reduced price meals increases $1,050.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free meals, free milk and reduced price meals. In addition, families not meeting these criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, or disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms will be sent home by the child in school, in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in the school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

Local school authorities said they must consider both the income of the family during the past 12 months and the family's current rate of income to determine which is the better indicator of need for free or reduced price meals to reflect family wage earners' present level of employment.

In certain cases foster children also are eligible for these benefits. If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk for them, it may contact the school.

All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child nutrition programs, no child will be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color, or national origin, school officials said.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN
Mrs. Terry Headrick, 208 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported at 6 a.m. Saturday that her 1964 automobile was stolen from the front of her apartment on Edwards Street.

TAKING AIM. Two hunters draw a bead on Canada geese from blinds at the Union County Conservation Area in Southern Illinois. Each year, the southern part of the state provides winter haven for up to 300,000 of the big birds, with 85,000 of them wintering at the Union County facility.

Woman suffers knife wound

Ponda Morris, 43, of 2119 Delmar Ave., suffered a stab wound to an arm when she walked out of Bob's Tavern, 21st and Adams streets, during a fight between two men in front of the tavern at 10:30 p.m. Thursday.

Ray Bloomquist, Hillsboro, told police he was in the bar when another man assaulted him. He said the fight continued outside until the assailant displayed a knife and threatened Bloomquist. At that moment, Ponda Morris walked out of the tavern and was struck by the knife.

Her wound did not require hospital treatment.

PURSE SNATCHING

A young man grabbed the purse of Mrs. Bessie Phillips, 69, of 2120 Benton St., as she was standing on the sidewalk in front of Glik's Store at Third Street and Madison Avenue at 3:10 p.m. Saturday, and ran from the scene. She reported she had $100 in her wallet with papers, food stamp book and keys.

Bicentennial topics at library

By JEANETTE KAMPEN
Granite City Public Library
Staff

If you are wondering what you can do to commemorate the Bicentennial, consider taking part in the American Issues Forum, a national program for the Bicentennial sponsored jointly by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. Designed to stimulate discussion of the fundamental issues of life in the United States during the past 200 years, the program covers the period from September 1775 through May 1976 and is divided into nine monthly issues and 36 weekly subtopics.

In conjunction with this program, the American Library Association has prepared a list of books and audiovisual materials pertinent to the key issues of the Forum to be studied each week. Free copies of the list are available at the Granite City Public Library. Many of the books and other materials on the list are in the collection at GCPL; others can be obtained from the system headquarters. Whether you desire to organize your own discussion group or just do some individual reading and thinking, this list will provide a handy guide.

Wrapping up the summer program for children at GCPL are three special activities: On Tuesday, Aug. 19, at 2 p.m., Walt Disney's film "Bedknobs and Broomsticks" will be shown at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. At 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 20, Kathy Richardson of Hayner Public Library, Altoon, will present a puppet show starring "King Courageous." This will also be held at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. Finally, on Tuesday, Aug. 26, at 10 a.m., a 45-minute program featuring films, puppets, and stories will be presented in the Children's Department at the library by Cheryl Goltz of the Lewis and Clark Library System.

Reminder: On Aug. 19 and 20, GCPL will hold a book sale on the parking lot behind the library. Books will be priced at ten cents each.

NEW ITEMS: The library has added three books edited by Richard J. Anobile, one of the foremost producers of film books. "Hooray for Captain Spaulding: Verbal and Visual Gems from 'Animal Crackers'" and "Why a Duck? Visual and Verbal Gems from the Marx Brothers Movies" will delight the fans of Groucho, Harpo, Chico, and Zeppo. The books contain stills and dialogue from the motion pictures. Anobile treats the Bud Abbott and Lou Costello films in the same manner in "Who's on First? Verbal and Visual Gems from the Films of Abbott & Costello."

New biographies of motion picture stars include Clive Hirschhorn's "Gene Kelly" and Juliet Benita Colman's "Ronald Colman: A Very Private Person."

David Keep gives a detailed outline of modern history, as illustrated largely by definitive stamps, in "History Through Stamps: A Survey of Modern World History."

The controversial Israeli psyche, Uri Geller, reveals how he came to realize his powers and how they have affected him in "Uri Geller: My Story."

F. Lee Bailey, with John Greenay, has written "For the Defense," in which he provides a rare glimpse into the men and machinery of the criminal justice system. Bailey includes the case of Capt. Ernest Medina, whom Bailey calls "the most decent man I've ever had the privilege to defend."

CHEESE DISCOVERY
On June 4, 1070, a shepherd, returning to a cave near Roquefort, France, where he had left an unseasoned hunch of bread and cheese, tasted the cheese now covered with black mold, shared it with monks nearby and thus contributed to the first curing of Roquefort cheese.

Amvets plan addition

Commander Adam Petras conducted a semi-monthly meeting of Amvets Post 51 at the post home, 51 Lakeview Drive, last week to discuss construction of an addition to the building for use as a club room.

Work on the new project is to begin this week and when completed will be available to the public for weddings, meetings, receptions and activities of the Amvets.

Petras said the addition will feature a modern shale front facade, a fireplace and band stand area with a small area to be used for private parties, which will be air-conditioned, will be built.

Completion is expected in late fall when the parking lot area also will be enlarged.

Amvets Day will be held Sept. 12 for members and their families only.

Ben Sanders gave a financial report and Petras reviewed the state executive meeting he attended in Springfield and told of the veteran day observance at the state fair.

A buffet luncheon was served after the business session.

Burglary at Lake School

Three televisions were believed stolen during a burglary at Lake School, East 23rd Street and Route 162, which was discovered Thursday.

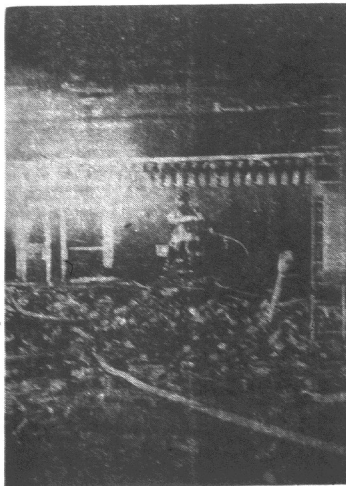

Entry was gained by breaking a small hole in a window to Room 127 and by prying the window latch open.

Police found two sets of tennis shoe prints inside the building. Searched were the principal's office, the cooks' locker room, the food storage room, the gymnasium and the storage cabinet in Room 127.

A lock was broken from the door to the room where the television sets were kept and the door was removed after the hinge pins were taken out.

AUTO PARTS STOLEN

A carburetor and a hi-rise intake valued at $150 were stolen from the unlocked garage of Jeff Cruise, 2900 Myrtle Ave., it was reported at 8:44 Saturday.
